BARDES AND SECOND EYEWITNESS LOCKED UP

Assistant Prosecutor in a Remarkable Statement Practically Throws Down the Case Built Up for State.

What is considered by friends of the family to be a sign of weakness n the case for the prosecution was the announcement this afternoon by District-Attorney Smith of Nassau County that he will ask for an adjournment of the formal examination of Mrs. Florence Carman, under arrest for the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, which is scheduled for next Monday in the Freeport Town Hall before Justice of the Peace Norton.

Mrs. Carman is ill in the county jail at Mineola and is not averse to postponement of the approaching ordeal. The District-Attorney says he does not wish to have the case go to the examination stage with the evidence he has at hand and intimated that he is on the trail of additional the unusual course this afternoon of asking Justice of the Peace Seaman to commit to jail as mawhose testimony he relies to convict Mrs. Carman. One is Elwood T. Bardes, who was taken into technical custody at the sensiusion of his testimony in the inquest yesterday, and the other is a man now in Mineola Jail whose name has been kept secret. This man has aworn to an affidavit in which he states that he saw a woman at the window of Dr. Carman's office when the shot that killed Mrs. Bailey was fired. He has been a prisoner since Tuesday night. The commitments issued by Judge Seaman allow the two witnesses to go into court and attempt to show cause why they should not be detained. District-Attorney Sm . also took into custody this afternoon Colia Coleman, the negro maid, who swore in the inquest that she saw L. one in the kitchen of the Carman bouse after or before the shooting. The District-Attorney wants Celia Coleman where he can put his hand, on her at any time and he has intimated that he expects she will change her
